Role of Youth in Peace Building

First of all I would like to discuss about some of the harrowing incidences that are taking place and how they create a disturbance among people. All of you may be aware of it. There is a special programme for youth nowadays organized by the rotary club. It's a youth exchange programme where students go to a different country and live there for about a year with a host family in view of providing cultural and academic exchange. It is to make the youth of today learn about the culture and way of life of another country and it is an appropriate link to build up harmony and peace. Some days before there was news that these exchange programmes are being threatened by terror groups.

We have come to such a situation that not even exchange programmes are being left out from the threat of terror. The non-stop protests that go on in the Kashmir valley leaves the whole India distressed. These anti-peace protests have not only messed up the lives of people but this affects especially the lives of the Kashmiri Youths. There is a relentless cycle of terror that continues to threaten the world peace - from Pathankot to Uri and now to Egypt and the never stopping violence in Syria, Yemen and Iraq.

The 14-15 year old children living in the ISIS territory in Syria and Iraq are being taught to become the next generation terrorists. The ones who could have been the peace making brands and the ones who should have become the medium to promote peace are now becoming the medium of violence.

Are we now waiting to form a big committee of people to sit down and discuss the policies on how peace can be implemented and then nothing will happen. Yes that is absolutely right that there were many instances in the past which had taught us about maintaining peace. But now we have to realize that it's not enough to learn from the past and discuss the same thing but it's about changing the future as well. UNO always talks about peace but I'll tell you it's a bitter fact that it remains just a talk. Sending a letter acknowledging Pakistan's commitment to the Kashmir issues, alone cannot serve the purpose. Now enough of blood and tears have been shed. Each and every morning we can find that % part of newspapers is filled with the news of crimes because we just focus on preaching about peace than practicing. The people who eloquently talks about peace are the ones who conspire to create conflicts and provoke people to indulge in non-violence.

The problem arises when we think of ourselves as intelligent animals and not normal human beings. It's better to be an imperfect human rather than being perfectly inhuman. I find that there is no need of promoting peace because peace itself gets promoted. One cannot just go and put on the switch and expect that peace will come just like the light comes. We really can't create it in our world until we feel it inside and the moment we feel and understand it we can go on spreading it to others.

We can really establish peace in this world by stopping the focus on the factors that destroy peace and start focusing on the factors that establish peace. This has been rightly proven when months before a peace treaty was signed between the Colombia government and the rebel group FARC. This served us as a reminder that all violence eventually ends no matter how long it takes. On this new year eve Pope Francis said, "Millions of people still live in the senseless conflicts and for them peace remains a distant dream but peace is not just about the absence of war or the balance of forces but a positive good, a gift of God". There are thousands of examples in this world where peoples' lives were destroyed due to communal riots and violence but I can tell you there are thousand and one more examples in this world where peoples' lives were given new energy due to peace. In enabling the youth to be a part of this Peace promoting mission, Universal Solidarity Movement (USM) has imparted a vision in the minds of thousands of youth and that is a positive point on which we have to focus. Now we can't let one more bomb destroy the lives of hundreds of people rather we ourselves have to become the peace making brands. As a youth and a responsible human being, I solemnly vow that I won't do any such thing that will destroy the peace of my country, my society and this world. How let us be the demon of violence that is grown so that peace and harmony may flourish.
